The Royal Tunbridge Wells Choral Society is delighted to return to the Assembly Hall theatre together with London's Salomon Orchestra to start their 2016-17 season with the simply sublime German Requiem by Johannes Brahms, and Rückert-Lieder by Gustav Mahler. Beautiful and moving works to mark Remembrance Sunday in the choir's traditional start to the season fixture.

Award winning Australian lyric soprano Anita Watson is based in London and performs world-wide in opera, recitals and concerts. Most recently she has sung Anne Trulove for Teatro Municipal de Santiago, Pamina for Welsh National Opera and the Governess for Théâtre du Capitole in Toulouse. She is currently living in East Grinstead.

Alex Ashworth is a concert and opera singer working across Europe and the United Kingdom. He studied at the Royal Academy of Music and has since made his debut with opera houses including Glyndebourne Festival Opera, Welsh National Opera and Scottish Opera.

Ticket prices at £10, £18 and £22 available from RTWCS members, by phone on 07506 577142 (cash and cheques only before Saturday 5th November) or from the assembly hall theatre box office on: 01892 530613 or www.assemblyhalltheatre.co.uk
